

MONEY20/20 IS LAUNCHING TWENTYFOLD AT MONEY20/20 USA IN LAS VEGAS

Early Access Launch of the Fintech Intelligence Platform enabling Investors Finding the Next Big Thing in Fintech

Las Vegas, NV–Oct 23rd 2023– Money20/20, the world’s leading fintech show and the place where money does business, is launching Twentyfold at Money20/20 USA in Las Vegas held on October 22–26. The Early Access launch of Twentyfold will be available exclusively to Money20/20 customers and subsequently commercially available to the global fintech and investment community on January 1, 2024.

Twentyfold has the widest and deepest source of fintech startups and is a Data as a Service (Daas) intelligence platform, helping fintech professionals find the ideal investment and partnership opportunities. Twentyfold is available via annual subscription, designed to help members speed up their deal and partnership sourcing, reducing the overall cycle time and cost.

Twentyfold’s advanced search, sort, and filter functions, built on Money20/20’s fintech taxonomy, help potential partners and investors to efficiently organize a future deal pipeline. The powerful discovery engine finds startups with similar characteristics to existing fintechs, and finds founders with similarly enviable success records. Twentyfold also has a built-in AI tool called ‘Fin’ with chatbot functionality, helping members to find what they’re looking for via natural language search. In addition, Twentyfold leverages AI in data augmentation, data categorization and quality assurance testing which means a wide variety of data sources can effectively be analyzed to meet the member’s needs.

“For more than a decade, Money20/20 has been the place where the world’s fintech start-ups and scale-ups come to find funding, partnerships and growth. Twentyfold expands our mission to be the place where money does business, giving members every piece of information they need to know in one place, with ultra-detailed founder, funding, tech stack, partnership, and investor information for more than 80,000 fintech companies globally,” said Tracey Davies, President of Money20/20.

Over 80,000 fintechs will be fully profiled and listed in Twentyfold at launch in January.

“Data and knowledge drives a competitive edge. To predict a start-up’s future success and in order to find stars fast at the pre-seed stage, you have to be able to search in a refined capacity by stealth mode or founder. We complement this with fintech partnership data and a user experience that will further enhance the picture so fintech professionals can make well informed decisions,” said William Mellis, Chief Strategy Officer at Ascential Futures, Money20/20’s parent company.

Twentyfold is located at booth 8007 in the Money Hall close to the Briefing Room stage.
